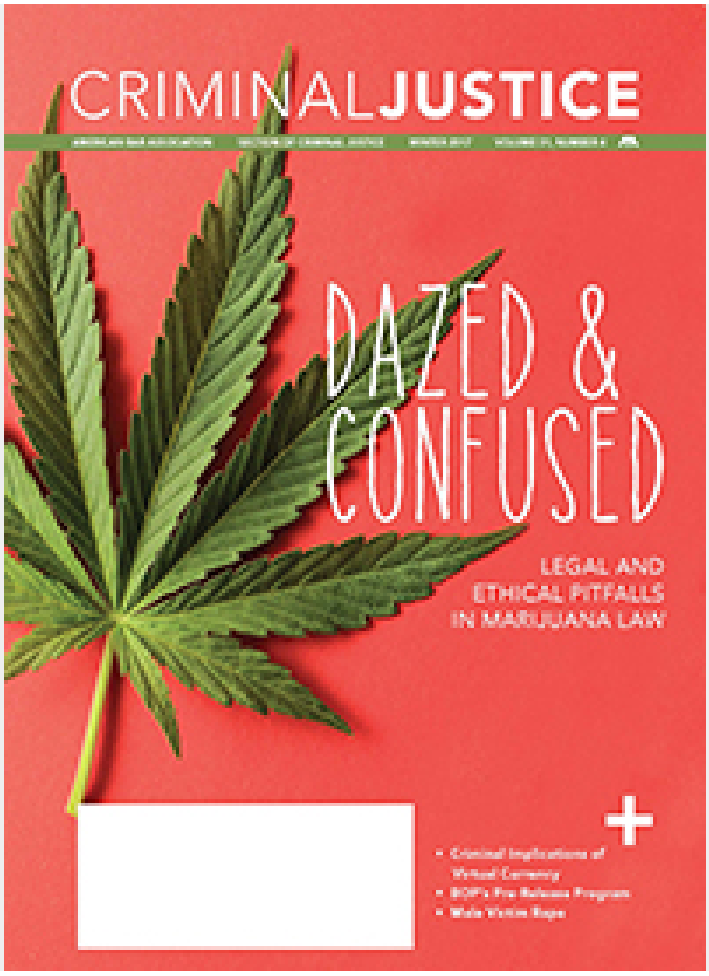
BOXERMAN AND SCHWERIN AUTHOR VIRTUAL CURRENCY ARTICLE FOR THE ABA CRIMINAL JUSTICE MAGAZINE

Posted on February 23, 2017 by Sanford J. Boxerman



Category: Publications
Tags: Michelle Schwerin, Sandy Boxerman

Sanford J. Boxerman and Michelle F. Schwerin, members of the Capes Sokol White Collar Criminal

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.

Defense & Internal Investigations practice group, were featured contributors in this quarter's issue of the American Bar Association (ABA) Criminal Justice Magazine. Their article entitled "Its Bark is Worse than its Bit(e): Regulatory and Criminal Law Implications of Virtual Currency" appeared in the Winter 2017 issue of the magazine (Vol. 31, No. 4).

Its Bark is Worse than its Bit(e): Regulatory and Criminal Law Implications of Virtual Currency

> This article provides a brief history of the development of bitcoin and other virtual currencies, discusses the regulation of virtual currency, and reviews recent criminal cases involving virtual currency.

The Criminal Justice magazine, published quarterly by the Criminal Justice Section of the American Bar Association, is intended for a national audience of defense lawyers, prosecutors, judges, academics, and other criminal justice professionals with a focus on the practice and policy issues of the criminal justice system.

If you would like to read past articles of Criminal Justice magazine, past copies are also is available online. To learn more about the Criminal Justice magazine, please visit their website.

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.